

Re-Making the World

Christianity and Categories: Essays in Honor of Karen L. King

edited by Taylor G. Petrey, Carly Daniel-Hughes, Benjamin Dunning, AnneMarie Luijendijk and Laura S. Nasrallah

DESCRIPTION:

This edited volume brings together important scholars of religion in the ancient world to honor the impact of Karen L. King's scholarship in this field. Her work shows that Christianity was diverse from its first moments - even before the word "Christian" was coined - and insists that scholars must engage both in deep historical work and in ethical reflection. These essays honor King's intellectual impact by further investigating the categories that scholars have used in their reconstructions of religion, by reflecting on the place of women and gender in the analysis of ancient texts, and by providing historiographical interventions that illuminate both the ancient world and the modern scholarship that has shaped our field. Contributors: Carlin Barton, Giovanni B. Bazzana, Daniel Boyarin, Bernadette Brooten, Margaret Butterfield, Carly Daniel-Hughes, Benjamin H. Dunning, Judith Hartenstein, T. Christopher Hoklotubbe, Ronit Irshai, Denise Kimber Buell, Marcie Lenk, AnneMarie Luijendijk, Laura S. Nasrallah, Elaine Pagels, Silke Petersen, Taylor G. Petrey, Adele Reinhartz, Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza, Sarah Sentilles, Angela Standhartinger, Stanley Stowers

ISBN:

9783161565816 (hb)

PRICE:

$210.00 (hb)

PUBLICATION DATE:

01 September 2019 (hb)

BINDING:

Hardback

PAGES:

424

PUBLISHER:

Mohr Siebeck

IMPRINT:

Mohr Siebeck

SERIES:

Wissenschaftliche
Untersuchungen zum
Neuen Testament

READER INTERESTS:

Biblical Studies